Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I strongly support the Justice settlement with Microsoft. In my opinion this misguided antitrust action never should have been taken by the Clinton Justice Department. It is a relief that more practical clear-headed views now prevail. Hopefully the new Bush administration will be more supportive of our great companies instead of trying to weaken them. It is not the role of government to intervene in the private sector on behalf of companies that are not sufficiently innovative to survive in the market place. Let's get this matter settled as quickly as possible and let Microsoft concentrate on doing what it does best unfettered by this litigation.
